7 KILLED, 40 HURT, IN MIDNIGHT RAIL WRECK

NEW YORK FLIER SIDESWIPES A FREIGHT TRAIN

FLIER WAS FASTEST TRAIN ON WABASH, AN ALL PULLMAN

SCALDING STEAM OF FREIGHT ENGINE BURNED THE VICTIMS

(By United Press)

Attica, Ind., June 2.—Seven persons were killed and nearly 40 injured when a St. Louis to New York flier on the Wabash railroad sideswiped a freight train four miles west of here just before midnight last night.

The flier was the fastest train on the Wabash lines and was an all Pullman train. A west bound meat train took a siding just west of Williamsport to let the flier pass. The engine, baggage car and smoker of the flyer passed the switch safely. The first Pullman was derailed and smashed into the engine of the freight train.

Three Pullmans and the private car of J. W. Newell, vice-president of the Wabash railroad, left the rails. Two of the Pullmans turned over and were practically demolished. The engine of the freight train was practically demolished, and scalding steam from the locomotive burned victims who were pinned under the wreckage of the Pullmans.

Of the injured 12 or more were serious. Some of them may die. Twenty-five of the injured escaped with cuts and bruises and some were taken to a hospital.

The seriously injured were taken to the hospitals at Danville, Ill., and Lafayette, Ind., by ambulances rushed to the scene of the wreck from Attica, Williamsport, West Lebanon and Lafayette.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO NINE IN WRECK

Attica, Ind., June 2.—The death toll of the wreck of the St. Louis to New York flier on the Wabash railroad which sideswiped a freight train four miles west of here mounted to nine today as two of the injured died.

20 SERIOUSLY HUT IN INTERURBAN CRASH

St. Paul, June 2.—Twenty persons were injured, six seriously, when two St. Paul to Stillwater interurban cars crashed head-on at Rattlesnake curve near Stillwater Sunday afternoon.

The car cabs were demolished but neither left the tracks.

One of the cars left the Owens streetcar barns at Stillwater, where it usually awaited the arrival of the other car. Both motormen tried to stop when they met but they were speeding so fast that the cars crashed.

Automobile accidents in and near the Twin Cities claimed one life and another was seriously injured.

Fred Meyer was killed in St. Paul when his automobile struck a streetcar.

San Francisco, June 2.—Thirty-five persons were injured here today when an Ingleside ocean car on the municipal railroad line ran wild out of Twin Peaks tunnel, raced down a Market street hill and struck a Hillside municipal car at Market and Dolores streets.

Three of the injured may die. The runaway car wrecked three automobiles and strewed wreckage over the street for two blocks.

Announcement was made yesterday of the merger of the Sunday Sentinel with the Milwaukee Telegram, the first edition of this combination to come out tomorrow.

The merger indicates a complete reorganization of Wisconsin's oldest newspaper, the Sentinel, which has been in existence since 1837.

COOLIDGE AND MELLON CONFER ON THE TAX BILL

THE PRESIDENT MAY SOON ANNOUNCE COURSE TO BE PURSUED

STUDIED BILL AS TO PROBABLE EFFECT ON COUNTRY'S REVENUES

Congress Today

Senate: Votes on child labor amendment.
House: McNary-Haugen bill.

Washington, June 2.—President Coolidge today had another conference with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon about the tax bill. On leaving the White House Mellon said the president's action would not long be deferred.

The president studied the bill and Mellon's report on its probable effect on the nation's revenues over the week-end while cruising on the presidential yacht Mayflower.

COOLIDGE TO ACT ON THE TAX BILL

Washington, June 2.—President Coolidge will act on the tax bill late today, it was authoritatively learned at the White House.

The president concluded his study of the measure over the week-end and held a final conference on it with Secretary Mellon today.

Mr. Coolidge is expected to sign the bill.

"DASTARDLY PLOT" IS NOT DISCLOSED

Washington, June 2.—A. L. Fink of Buffalo failed to make good his promise to disclose a "dastardly plot" against President Coolidge before the senate Daugherty committee.

Fink, who was accused by Miss Roxie Stinson of helping to 'frame" her, publicly stated that if permitted to testify he would involve Frank A. Vanderlip and Senators Wheeler and Brookhart, of the committee, in an attempt to discredit the president.

He did not appear, however, when the committee called for him, and instead his attorney, George P. Koegel, asked permission to make a statement for him.

Brookhart refused to hear it.

HOUSE VOTES, 221 TO 157 TO ADJOURN ON JUNE 7

Washington, June 2.—The house today voted 221 to 157 to adjourn at 7 p. m. on June 7.

The resolution proposing adjournment now goes to the senate where it is reported progressives are seeking a compromise for a month's recess, to return after the conventions and clean up the program of legislation decided on beforehand.

Senator LaFollette may introduce a resolution providing for such a compromise as a substitute for the measure passed by the house. LaFollette's projected compromise, however, got little response from senate leaders. Senator Lodge, republican floor leader, declared he was "unalterably" in favor of adjournment on Saturday.

Senator Robinson, democrat leader, also announced himself in favor of adjournment.

The vote on the resolution in the house broke party lines, 85 democrats voting with 136 republicans for adjournment, while 95 democrats, 59 republicans, including all progressives, two Farmer-Laborites and one socialist voted against it.

EXCORCIATES CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Washington, June 2.—The proposed child labor amendment to the constitution is "socialistic, bolshevistic and almost anarchistic," Senator Reed (Mo., dem.) declared in opening debate on the proposal in the senate today.

"It is not a child labor proposition," Senator Reed said. "It is an attempt to regulate labor of all human beings."

Senator Overman (dem., N. C.) attacked the measure as an unwarranted attempt to usurp the powers of state governments.

The senate will vote on the amendment at 9 p. m. under an agreement reached today.

AMERICAN ROUND WORLD FLIERS IN 6 HOUR JOURNEY

Tokio, June 2.—The American round the world fliers completed another step in their journey today.

They flew from Kushimoto, where they arrived yesterday from Kasimagaura, to Kagoshimi on the island of Kyushu, the last stop they will make in Japan.

The three fliers, Lieuts. Lowell Smith, Leigh Wade and Erik Nelson, left Kushimoto at 1 p. m. and arrived at Kagoshimi at 7 p. m.

AMERICA IN COURTEOUS REPLY TO THE JAPANESE

RELATING TO EXCLUSION ACT IN IMMIGRATION TREATY

WILL END GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT FORMULATED IN 1908

(By United Press)

Washington, June 2.—The American government in the near future will dispatch a courteous reply to the protest of Japan against the new law excluding Japanese immigration from the United States. One of the principal points of the American response, it is understood, will be to formally bring to an end the gentlemen's agreement of 1908 by which Japan voluntarily restricted her immigrants here to a minimum.

Japan, in her note of protest, declared the new law made it impossible for her to continue the gentlemen's agreement which the protest described as having ben "abruptly overthrown by legislative action on the part of the United States."

Whether Japan's claim that the exclusion law violates the spirit of the commercial treaty of 1911 will be refuted in Hughes' reply is not finally decided, but the state department is in a position to show that this government made ample reservations at the time of the negotiation of the treaty that the right of the United States to legislation on immigration was not to be effected.

PRES. MILLERAND OF FRANCE MAY RESIGN SOON

NO OTHER COURSE SEEMS OPEN TO HIM, SAY SUPPORTERS

GOVERNMENTAL ORGANS ARE PESSIMISTIC IN TONE

(By United Press)

Paris, June 2.—President Millerand is practically certain to resign at an early date.

No other course is open to him, after the supporters agreed yesterday in favor of resolutions passed by parties of the left who pledged themselves to refuse to approve any premier named by Millerand.

The conservative morning papers merely discuss when the president will resign and what the consequences will be. Governmental organs like the Echo d' Paris and Figaro foresee a constitutional crisis in which the president, who was originally intended to be above party issues, will become the plaything of elections.

DENUNCIATION DOES NOT DETER CONVENTION

THIRD PARTY WILL ENDORSE SENATOR ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE

ATTENDANCE MAY BE CUT DOWN, BUT MEETING WILL BE HELD

(By United Press)

St. Paul, June 2.—The third party national convention here June 17 will endorse United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette for president, despite his denunciation of the meeting, the arrangements committee decided Sunday.

The convention will not be cancelled, the committee asserted, and the only thing that can block a LaFollette endorsement will be the flat refusal from the Wisconsin senator to permit his name to be used.

Denunciation of the convention by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and leaders of railroad brotherhoods, farmer-labor units and others will have a tendency to cut down the attendance at the meeting, according to William Mahoney, temporary chairman, but the convention will not be cancelled.

"HE LOVES ME, HE LOVES ME NOT"

St. Paul, June 2.—The national third party convention in St. Paul will not name a candidate for president or vice-president, William Mahoney, temporary chairman, said today.

The convention will confine itself to the task of launching a new national political movement.

The convention, according to present plans, will name an executive committee which will have power to endorse a candidate for president and enlist the support of the entire organization. The committee will await action of the national council for progressive political action in Cleveland July 4.

When the Cleveland convention has acted the executive committee of the St. Paul convention will decide whether to "hop on the band wagon" for a nation-wide third party movement.

In spite of Senator LaFollette's denunciation of the St. Paul convention resolutions probably will be passed inviting LaFollette to become candidate for president.

By this action, according to political observers here, the St. Paul convention adherents would be in a position to force themselves into the national third party campaign should LaFollette become a candidate. At the same time it would be the means of expressing the idea of Mahoney that the third party movement "is bigger than the man."

CLUNG TO AN OVERTURNED BOAT 8 HOURS

LEO BEAUCHAMP RESCUED FROM LAKE FRANKLIN NEAR FARGO

HIS COMPANION SUNK IN WAVES WHEN THE BOAT CAPSIZED

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., June 2.—After clinging to an overturned boat for eight hours, Leo Beauchamp, 45, was rescued from Lake Franklin Sunday.

His companion, R. B. Tomlinson, 43, went down when the boat capsized late Saturday night and never came up, according to Beauchamp. His body had not been recovered at a late hour Monday.

The two men, both employees of the Western Union here, went fishing Saturday night. About 11 o'clock, Beauchamp said, the boat overturned and neither of the men could swim. Beauchamp got hold of the boat and held on. Three times during the long night his arms became so benumbed that he let go. The last time, he said, he was so exhausted he could barely take hold again.

As daylight broke he shouted for help. Two men from Baker heard him but paid no attention at first. As the shouts continued they investigated and pulled him from the water. He was so exhausted he could not talk and could not help himself.

Lake Franklin is 20 miles northeast of Detroit. Beauchamp went to join his family at Lake Lizzie.

Tomlinson is survived by a widow and one daughter in Fargo.

STATE BUILDS UP ITS CASE IN FRANKS' MURDER

DEFENSE MAY URGE AN INSANITY PLEA AT THE TRIAL

CLARENCE DARROW, NOTED LAWYER, WILL DIRECT THE DEFENSE

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 2.—Led by State's Attorney Robert Crowe, the state today was building up its case against Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, 19-year old millionaires' sons, confessed murderers of Robert Franks, 14, another son of wealth.

While parents of the two youthful slayers were rapidly taking steps to establish a defense—probably to be based on a plea of insanity—Leopold and Loeb seemed anxious to prove that they had deliberately killed young Franks "just for the fun of it."

Chagrined because their murder plot was discovered, the two young law students were anxious to have their story of the kidnaping and killing believed.

The coroner's inquest, started before the confessed slayers were apprehended, was to be continued today.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, indicated the course he will follow by objecting to having Leopold and Loeb examined by state's alienists.

The state, Darrow believes, will attempt to prove the boys sane and thus forestall the defense of insanity.

Darrow, it is understood, will direct a full staff of attorneys retained by the boys' parents. Many millions of dollars are available for their defense.

Leopold is the son of the head of the Morris Paper Box company; Loeb is the son of Albert H. Loeb, multimillionaire vice-president of Sears, Roebuck company.

State's Attorney Crowe announced the plea of insanity would be contested bitterly.

"It will be a case of millions versus the death penalty," Crowe said, "but these boys killed an innocent child 'just for the spirit of adventure,' and thy must suffer the consequences. Every effort will be made by my office to have them hanged."

Chicago, June 2.—Millions were pitted against millions today as the fight to save Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of 14-year old Robert Franks, from the gallows, was opened in criminal court before Chief Justice John R. Caverly.

Clarence Darrow, noted lawyer and orator retained by the millionaire parents of the youths, opened the case for the defendants by filing a writ of habeas corpus releasing Leopold and Loeb from custody of the police.

Darrow indicated the move was prompted to forestall examination of the youths by state's alienists, a move expected to be made by the state in order to prove the boys sane.

Darrow heads a large staff of attorneys acting for Albert H. Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Sr., fathers of the confessed murderers. Resources off $15,000,000 are said to be backing the defense.

Couldn't Gain Death

Paris, June 2.—Disappointed in love, a sergeant-mechanic at the aviation field at Troyes, Aube, sought to fly into a better life. He got his wings by appropriating a government airplane—but he had not learned to fly. The machine under full "gun" tore wildly along the ground for some distance and then tumbled over in a complete wreck. The sergeant was only slightly injured. He will be court-martialled for damaging army property. He said his plan was to rise among the clouds and then end his life by crashing to earth.

HIS COMPANION SUNK IN WAVES WHEN THE BOAT CAPSIZED

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., June 2.—After clinging to an overturned boat for eight hours, Leo Beauchamp, 45, was rescued from Lake Franklin Sunday.

His companion, R. B. Tomlinson, 43, went down when the boat capsized late Saturday night and never came up, according to Beauchamp. His body had not been recovered at a late hour Monday.

The two men, both employees of the Western Union here, went fishing Saturday night. About 11 o'clock, Beauchamp said, the boat overturned and neither of the men could swim. Beauchamp got hold of the boat and held on. Three times during the long night his arms became so benumbed that he let go. The last time, he said, he was so exhausted he could barely take hold again.

As daylight broke he shouted for help. Two men from Baker heard him but paid no attention at first. As the shouts continued they investigated and pulled him from the water. He was so exhausted he could not talk and could not help himself.

Lake Franklin is 20 miles northeast of Detroit. Beauchamp went to join his family at Lake Lizzie.

Tomlinson is survived by a widow and one daughter in Fargo.

STATE BUILDS UP ITS CASE IN FRANKS' MURDER

DEFENSE MAY URGE AN INSANITY PLEA AT THE TRIAL

CLARENCE DARROW, NOTED LAWYER, WILL DIRECT THE DEFENSE

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 2.—Led by State's Attorney Robert Crowe, the state today was building up its case against Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, 19-year old millionaires' sons, confessed murderers of Robert Franks, 14, another son of wealth.

While parents of the two youthful slayers were rapidly taking steps to establish a defense—probably to be based on a plea of insanity—Leopold and Loeb seemed anxious to prove that they had deliberately killed young Franks "just for the fun of it."

Chagrined because their murder plot was discovered, the two young law students were anxious to have their story of the kidnaping and killing believed.

The coroner's inquest, started before the confessed slayers were apprehended, was to be continued today.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, indicated the course he will follow by objecting to having Leopold and Loeb examined by state's alienists.

The state, Darrow believes, will attempt to prove the boys sane and thus forestall the defense of insanity.

Darrow, it is understood, will direct a full staff of attorneys retained by the boys' parents. Many millions of dollars are available for their defense.

Leopold is the son of the head of the Morris Paper Box company; Loeb is the son of Albert H. Loeb, multimillionaire vice-president of Sears, Roebuck company.

State's Attorney Crowe announced the plea of insanity would be contested bitterly.

"It will be a case of millions versus the death penalty," Crowe said, "but these boys killed an innocent child 'just for the spirit of adventure,' and thy must suffer the consequences. Every effort will be made by my office to have them hanged."

Chicago, June 2.—Millions were pitted against millions today as the fight to save Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of 14-year old Robert Franks, from the gallows, was opened in criminal court before Chief Justice John R. Caverly.

Clarence Darrow, noted lawyer and orator retained by the millionaire parents of the youths, opened the case for the defendants by filing a writ of habeas corpus releasing Leopold and Loeb from custody of the police.

Darrow indicated the move was prompted to forestall examination of the youths by state's alienists, a move expected to be made by the state in order to prove the boys sane.

Darrow heads a large staff of attorneys acting for Albert H. Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Sr., fathers of the confessed murderers. Resources off $15,000,000 are said to be backing the defense.

Couldn't Gain Death

Paris, June 2.—Disappointed in love, a sergeant-mechanic at the aviation field at Troyes, Aube, sought to fly into a better life. He got his wings by appropriating a government airplane—but he had not learned to fly. The machine under full "gun" tore wildly along the ground for some distance and then tumbled over in a complete wreck. The sergeant was only slightly injured. He will be court-martialled for damaging army property. He said his plan was to rise among the clouds and then end his life by crashing to earth.

Claims to Have Seen Owls Flying in Flock

It is common knowledge that tawny, barn, and long-eared owls have increased considerably in numbers in East Lothian in recent years, and there is no doubt that they are today far more numerous than most people have any idea.

Motoring recently after the fall of darkness along a byroad between Macmerry and Pencaitland, writes H. M. B. in the Edinburgh Scotsman, I drew the attention of my passenger to an owl flying overhead, and at the same time I slackened speed so that we might obtain a better view of the bird. We then noticed a second owl, and almost immediately a third and a fourth, flying over the field on our right; indeed, it seemed that there was a whole flock of them, as we counted as many as six clearly visible against the sky at the same time. At first I thought that they must be peewits, which often besport themselves thus after darkness, but as the birds crossed the rays of the head lamps there was no doubting that they were owls—fawny or barn, I think the latter. Certainly they were not long-eared owls.

Long-eared owls are, to some extent, gregarious and sociable by disposition—that is, a number of them may foregather irrespective of food or mating attractions. Such meetings are purely social, and in the case of the long-eared owl they may occur at any season, day or night; but I have never heard of a purely social gathering of brown or barn owls.

Both Birds and Animals Subject to Epidemics

Dr. Herbert Fox, pathologist of the Philadelphia zoo and head of the Pepper laboratory at the university, has written a book on the diseases of wild animals and birds. For the last eighteen years Dr. Fox has been studying the tenants of the zoological garden—the only place in the world where such exhaustive work has been done.

Pulling a tiger's tooth or treating a humming bird for tuberculosis is all the same to this man of science, observes "Girard" in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Dr. Fox has laid bare many startling results. Among others he found that tuberculosis was the foe which swiftly depopulated monkey cages.

Epidemics afflict birds as they do men. The inference is drawn that extinct races of animals and birds were wiped out by disease.

A practical result of Dr. Fox's search is that monkeys and other animals and birds may now live for a far longer time in captivity than formerly.

And his experiments on the epidemics among birds may give the real clew for the startling and sudden annihilation of our wild pigeons.

Street traffic in London is said to be the slowest in the world, with an average speed of from four to five miles an hour. When congestion is most acute, traffic moves at the rate of only three miles an hour.

When You Break a Bill

The change remaining seems of so little consequence that usually it is quickly spent. You have heard people say, "When I break a bill I consider it all gone."

If you pay by check you pay only the exact amount and do not disturb the balance. Then these small amounts—the "left-overs" of even sums—accumulate into larger amounts. This is just one of the advantages of a checking account.

Claims to Have Seen Owls Flying in Flock

It is common knowledge that tawny, barn, and long-eared owls have increased considerably in numbers in East Lothian in recent years, and there is no doubt that they are today far more numerous than most people have any idea.

Motoring recently after the fall of darkness along a byroad between Macmerry and Pencaitland, writes H. M. B. in the Edinburgh Scotsman, I drew the attention of my passenger to an owl flying overhead, and at the same time I slackened speed so that we might obtain a better view of the bird. We then noticed a second owl, and almost immediately a third and a fourth, flying over the field on our right; indeed, it seemed that there was a whole flock of them, as we counted as many as six clearly visible against the sky at the same time. At first I thought that they must be pee-wits, which often besport themselves thus after darkness, but as the birds crossed the rays of the head lamps there was no doubting that they were owls—tawny or barn, I think the latter. Certainly they were not long-eared owls.

Long-eared owls are, to some extent, gregarious and sociable by disposition—that is, a number of them may foregather irrespective of food or mating attractions. Such meetings are purely social, and in the case of the long-eared owl they may occur at any season, day or night; but I have never heard of a purely social gathering of brown or barn owls.

Both Birds and Animals Subject to Epidemics

Dr. Herbert Fox, pathologist of the Philadelphia zoo and head of the Pepper laboratory at the university, has written a book on the diseases of wild animals and birds. For the last eighteen years Dr. Fox has been studying the tenants of the zoological garden—the only place in the world where such exhaustive work has been done.

Pulling a tiger's tooth or treating a humming bird for tuberculosis is all the same to this man of science, observes "Girard" in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Dr. Fox has laid bare many startling results. Among others he found that tuberculosis was the foe which swiftly depopulated monkey cages.

Epidemics afflict birds as they do men. The inference is drawn that extinct races of animals and birds were wiped out by disease.

A practical result of Dr. Fox's search is that monkeys and other animals and birds may now live for a far longer time in captivity than formerly.

And his experiments on the epidemics among birds may give the real clew for the startling and sudden annihilation of our wild pigeons.

When You Break a Bill

The change remaining seems of so little consequence that usually it is quickly spent. You have heard people say, "When I break a bill I consider it all gone."

If you pay by check you pay only the exact amount and do not disturb the balance. Then these small amounts—the "left-overs" of even sums—accumulate into larger amounts. This is just one of the advantages of a checking account.

TWO WRECKERS CLEARED UP WRECK

Bemidji and Brainerd Crews Worked All Day Saturday and Sunday

AT M. & I. DERAILMENT

For a Time Traffic Each Way Was Blocked, Delaying a Number of Trains

Two wreckers, one from Bemidji and the other from Brainerd, worked all day Satuday and most of Sunday in cleaning up the wreck of the Minnesota & International passenger train, No. 33, northbound, which was derailed about 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning a mile south of Cyphers.

About three hundred feet of track was torn up, it is said, when the train was derailed, five cars and the tender of the engine leaving the track. This stopped all traffic each way, delaying a number of trains.

The afternoon passenger train north to Kelliher, due to leave Brainerd at 2:40 o'clock, Saturday, did not leave the city until 7:30 o'clock that evening. The morning train from Kelliher came as far south as the wreck Saturday morning, was turned around and sent back to Bemidji, where it was abandoned and the coaches used to make up a train to International Falls and back, in place of the derailed train.

The noon train south to the cities, which is made up of equipment that arrives from the north, was composed of an engine and one coach Saturday. The coach was taken to Little Falls, where it was attached to a main line train to St. Paul.

TACIT BOYCOTT BY REPUBLICANS

PROGRESSIVES IN CONGRESS AGAINST REPUBLICAN CLEVELAND CONVENTION

(By United Press)

Washington, June 2.—Republican progressives in congress have declared a tacit boycott on the republican national convention at Cleveland.

Out of the progressive group in the senate which has brought the downfall of virtually every piece of legislation sponsored by President Coolidge, but two expect to attend the G. O. P. conclave.

One of these is Senator Norbeck of South Dakota, who goes as a delegate to lead the Hiram Johnson forces. The other is Senator Howell, who is republican national committeeman from Nebraska.

Whether Senator Johnson will go himself is still undecided. Norbeck, however, declared the South Dakota delegation, pledged to Johnson, will stand by its colors and vote for the California senator.

Isles Bird Havens

Around the coast of Britain there are several islands chiefly populated by marine birds. The Farnes have been the winter resort of the eider duck for generations and probably for many centuries. The Skerries off the Anglesey coast are the sanctuary of the arctic tern and the beautiful roseate tern.

Holyhead island is visited occasionally by the whopper swan, the somewhat rare tufted duck and the red breasted merganser, says the Detroit News. Puffin island, at the entrance to the Menai strait, is named after the birds that inhabit it.

Golden Ideas

I believe happiness comes out of doing things for other people. If all rich people knew the pleasure of giving or helping others they would do so. It is the best medicine I have ever taken. I know it is too much for me to keep and most of it will go.—Nathan Straus.

The kings are mounted on elephants; the viziers, or those second in rank, are upon horses tigers and bulls. WANT KERMIS QUEEN IN CROSBY FESTIVAL

Crosby, May 29—To some fortunate young lady will go the honor of representing the city at the big spring festival, or Kermis, to be held at Crosby during the week of June 16. A Queen's Court is to be chosen, consisting of one young lady from each of these eight districts: Brainerd, Crosby, Ironton, Deerwood, Aitkin, Trommald and Cuyuna, Crow Wing county outside of towns named, and Aitkin county outside of Aitkin. The court will be royally entertained and banquetted by the Crosby fire department, sponsors of the Kermis, on the opening night, all expenses to Crosby being paid. Places on the court will be won by candidates soliciting votes from their friends. The member of the court receiving the highest total number of votes will be crowned Queen and given a diamond ring in platinum setting.

Members of the Brainerd fire department are co-operating with the Crosby boys on the Kermis plans and stand ready to back the Brainerd candidates with a splendid vote. Any young lady anywhere in the county is eligible. For full details communicate with Archie Falconer of the Brainerd department, or the Kaptain of the Kermis, Crosby.

SMALL GRAINS OF GOOD COLOR

FALL SOWINGS OF RYE AND WHEAT GENERALLY IN GOOD CONDITION

(By United Press)

St. Paul, June 2.—In spite of unseasonable cool weather the last week, all small grains, though short, have good color and are in satisfactory condition, the Minnesota Co-operative Crop Reporting service stated today.

Fall sowings of rye and wheat are generally in very good condition.

There was some report of flax being damaged by frost in northwest counties. There were few reports of corn having to be replanted, but the dry condition of the soil has kept much of the corn from rotting. The season will be backward for corn, on the whole, but the general condition is good, the report said.

Potato planting is well advanced in the Red River Valley.

Pastures and hay are still short, but alfalfa is doing well. There were no adverse reports of livestock, according to Paul H. Kirk, agricultural statistician.

GROSSMAN APPEAL IN SUPREME COURT

(By United Press)

Washington, June 2.—The petition for release on bail of Philip Grossman, Chicago, whose sentence was commuted by President Coolidge, was granted by the United States Supreme Court today.

After Grossman's sentence was commuted by President Coolidge the federal district court in Chicago ordered him back to jail under the ruling that the president had no power to commute or pardon in cases involving contempt of court.

The court did not decide the questioned power of the president to commute Grossman's sentence. Its ruling, however, permits Grossman's release on $5,000 bail, pending a hearing October 6 next. Arguments on the merits of the case will be heard then.

CHICAGO PLANS HUGE AUDITORIUM ON WORLD'S FAIR SITE IN PARK

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 2—The largest convention hall and community center in the United States, if not in the world, will be built in Chicago if plans of the south park commissioners here materialize.

Backers of the plan propose to remodel the old Fine Arts building left by the World's Fair in Jackson Park and make it the leading auditorium of the nation—one that would attract hundreds of thousands of people to Chicago annually.

Citizens of the south side are expected to vote today on a large bond issue, part of which would provide funds for the colossal project.

The structure as planned will contain a series of halls that can be thrown open into a huge auditorium, seating 2,000 persons. The scheme provides for indoor swimming pools, gymnasia, ball rooms, club rooms, recreation halls and minor auditoriums.

Present specifications for the main auditorium place the speakers' rostrum in the center. The large hall is also planned for huge athletic carnivals, with a straightaway 150 yards long. The main building at present has approximately 150,000 square feet of floor space. It has two large wings, which could be used for art and commercial exhibits.

The exterior of the Fine Arts building would be restored, and the dome—considered one of the most imposing in America—would be retained in the new structure.

Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park commissioners, declared that the proposed auditorium would be one of the greatest in the world.

"It should attract half a million people to Chicago every year," he said.

SMALL ARMY BEGINS MARKING QUIZ PAPERS FROM ALL OVER STATE

St. Paul, June 2.—The basement of the Capitol will look like a money order house for the next few weeks.

A small army of examiners will attack scores of mail sacks full of examination papers, sent in from grade and high school students throughout the state.

The number of papers this year is expected to be greater than last year, when 75,000 students submitted 225,000 examination papers, according to P. C. Tonning, assistant commissioner of education, who is in charge of the reviewing of the examination papers.

Do Gasoline Prices Fluctuate?

THE average man, paying for staple commodities by the month, fails to consider the wide fluctuation in prices, while noting quickly the smallest change in the price of gasoline, which he buys at frequent intervals and for which he pays cash.

Bureau of Labor, and Department of Commerce, statistics indicate that gasoline prices fluctuate less than the price of most staple commodities.

In 1922, the price of eggs fluctuated 125 points; potatoes 210 points; sugar 51 points, as against only 25 points in the price of gasoline.

In 1923, the price of eggs fluctuated 110 points; potatoes 114 points; sugar 59 points, milk 49 points, as against 47 points for gasoline.

The reason for the wide fluctuation in the price of gasoline during 1923 was the opening of new fields, which flooded the market with crude oil rich in gasoline.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) bases its price for gasoline fundamentally on the varying price of crude, which in turn is regulated by supply and demand.

To equalize supply with demand, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has erected and maintains storage depots of tremendous capacity. It has located these depots at strategic points throughout its territory. These huge tanks are filled to capacity, in the off-season, to supply the insistent demand during the season of heavy motoring and agricultural activities.

This Company has systematically passed on to consumers, in the way of price reductions, the benefits derived from improved methods of refining petroleum. It has blazed the trail in originating improved technique, improved equipment and more efficient processes of refining and distribution, thereby aiding the industry to keep abreast of continually expanding needs for petroleum products.

The service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) tends to hold gasoline prices down—and to modify fluctuation by increasing the supply in proportion to demand—and by equalizing distribution, so as to bring gasoline prices into seasonal and sectional harmony.

TOURIST PARK NEW ARRANGEMENT

THE Brainerd Tourist Park, which was conducted on a free basis last year, citizens donating to the fund which made such generosity possible, has this season opened under a new arrangement, a moderate charge being substituted.

The Tourist Park has been taken over by the Park Board of the city, and has been ordered placed on a self-sustaining basis. No tourist can possibly object to paying the moderate charge made for services which range in order and read like that offered by a hotel.

Fifty cents per car gives each party all the camp privileges the first day. For the second and succeeding days, 25c per day is charged. Parties stopping for lunch only, 10c for three in a party, 20c for larger parties.

The Park Board aims to give service which will more than offset any charges made, furnishing gas and gas ranges for cooking, spring water, laundry facilities, shower baths, electric lights, hot and cold water, sanitary and modern toilets, caretaker in attendance, police protection, canopied lunch tables, etc., all in a beautiful park within four blocks of the heart of the city, on the banks of the Mississippi river.

Last season Brainerd was one of the few towns which gave all its wonderful privileges absolutely free and it certainly received a world of advertising from such efforts. The Brainerd Tourist Park is known wherever cars congregate.

This year, on adopting the moderate charge basis, Brainerd Tourist Park is only following in the footsteps of the majority of tourist parks of the nations and remains in the forefront, giving more for the money than a majority of the parks have to offer.

Commencing with the month of June, the tourist movement may be regarded as fairly in motion and destined to reach the peak in August and thereafter continuing to the close. Within easy driving distance of Brainerd's Tourist Park is a rarely beautiful lake country embracing fully 700 lakes. And what is more to the point, besides offering well kept roads, beautiful scenery, modern resorts, camping places, etc., the Brainerd Lake Region stands preeminent as one which has well stocked lakes. The fish are here, the pike, muskies, pickerel, bass, crappies, trout, etc.

Brainerd extends a hearty welcome to the tourists of the nation. With the accommodations the Tourist Park has to offer, make this headquarters for at least a few days' stay. Inspect our city, Lum park with its many recreational facilities, bathing, boating, band music, refreshments, etc., and many other points of interest. See the lakes and all the surrounding territory. Come often and bring your friends.

ADVERTISING BRAINERD

THE publicity gained by the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce when it staged its "Better Sires Day" on May 10th has been of the cumulative kind. Like a snowball rolling down a mountainside in mild weather, it has picked up and gained momentum until a regular avalanche of publicity has resulted.

The publicity and conventions committee of the Chamber of Commerce, working with every possible agency, gained a wealth of publicity in local and city papers, in farm and dairy magazines, in "Kinograms" educational film which ranged "Brainerd Sires Day" alongside the most notable news features of the world.

The Dispatch will shortly publish some of the dairy magazine reviews and illustrations accorded "Brainerd Sires Day." One of the first of these is the "Stock and Dairy Farmer" of Duluth, which covers Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. Its editor, Arthur J. Platten, was in attendance at the Brainerd celebration and his camera was busy. He has accorded "Brainerd Better Sires Day" a whole page in his publication.

Another authoritative farm paper, the only weekly farm paper in this section of the West, "The Farmer," published in St. Paul, also accorded the day much publicity by giving it front page location. Berry H. Akers, an associate editor of "The Farmer," attended the "Brainerd Better Sires Day" and took many views. He has written a most comprehensive article which will be read with interest by all.

The publicity committee still has a number of dairy papers of national circulation to cover and has also a number of other publicity methods, novel in their nature, which will continue to bring to the notice of the nation at large the idea permeating "Brainerd Better Sires Day."

97 TO GRADUATE

BRAINERD high school this evening will graduate a class of 97. Have you ever thought of the advantage gained in a high school education? A comment on this by the "Rotameter" of recent date is most pertinent.

The United States Bureau of Education investigation shows that of all the people in the United States who have performed distinguished service and received high honors, there were:

One out of each 150,000 with no schooling.
One out of each 37,500 with a common school education.
One out of each 1,724 with a high school education.
One out of each 187 with a college education.

Parents who give their children a common school education give them four times the chance to become a leader and receive distinction that the child of no schooling has. Those who give their children a high school education give them 87 times the chance and those who give them a college education give them 800 times the chance of the child without schooling.

We believe in that education which enables a student to wage the battle of life unafraid and with self reliance. All education, we believe, is but a means to one great end, that of better citizenship.

SUCH A SHY LADY IS MISS SPRING

MISS SPRING with her diaphanous garments was supposed to be holding sway in this section, but ever and anon a breath from Old Man Winter causes her to scurry from the center of the stage. As a fussy, old gentleman who has long outstayed his host's pleasure, that Winter personage should come to his senses and let a young lady scatter her flowers.

A thermometer bumping the nether regions of 30 and 32 above nights may save an ice bill, but it swells the fuel dealer's revenue and hurts regular seasonable business.

Iron Ore Tax, $3,474,075 Paid By Oliver Mining Co.

St. Paul, June 2. — Occupational tax payments poured into the state treasury Saturday.

The Oliver Iron Mining Co. turned in $3,474,075. Many of the smaller companies also turned in their money Saturday, to evade the penalty which will attach in June.

Included are the Mace Iron Mining Co., $8,663; Mesaba Cliff Iron Mining Co., $64,966, and the Rogers-Brown Iron Co., $59,138.

Half of the taxes goes into the state general fund, 40 per cent to the permanent school fund, and 10 per cent to the permanent university fund.

Minister Married to a Minister by a Minister

St. Paul, June 2.—Up in Hanska, Minn., Wednesday, a minister married a minister, while a third minister, of course, performed the ceremony.

News of the wedding was received today. Those married were the Rev. Alvin Cook, Chicopee, Mass., and the Rev. Agnes C. Larson of Hanska. The Rev. A. E. Norman, pastor of the Hanska Unitarian church, read the service.

Bride and bridegroom are graduates of Unitarian Theological college at Meadville, Penn., and will live in Chicopee, where Mr. Norman is a pastor. His wife was pastor of a church in Humboldt, Ia.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advt.

Boy Scouts to Build Trails in Glacier National Park as Tribute to Uncle Sam

Washington, D. C. June 2.—Plans have been approved by the Bureau of National Parks for Boy Scouts to hew a new trail through an unexplored Rocky Mountain region of Glacier National Park, in Montana. The work wil be done as a tribute to Uncle Sam, demonstrating to the American people the genuine particability of the training these boys have received. This trail will be built in the Many Glacier region. When completed, it will be thrown open for tourist travel. It is to be designated the "Boy Scout Trail.'

Eagle Scouts, the highest rank in the organization, wil do the work of trail building along the mountain sides and through a primeval forest. The Boy Scouts will be selected from the organizations in Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Washington. Fifty boys will work at a time. The first contingent will start the work and continue two weeks, when they are to be relieved by a second band of fifty, and so on until the work is finished. The rations for the boys is to be provided by their local councils and the tools and camping equipment by the park service, according to Superintendent Kraebel of Glacier Park. Adult supervision is to be provided by each local council.

While the plan is to make Glacier Park the field of operations this year, similar trails also are to be built by the Scouts in the other National Parks, during the next four or five years. Under this plan, permanent summer camps for Boy Scouts may be maintained in the national parks and the trail construction work will be part of their summer outings, probably ultimately furnishing training for Boy Scouts below the rank of Eagle Scouts.

Stream Has a "Kick"

Each year millions of dollars' worth of salmon and trout are to be saved in the state of Washington by the installation in the irrigation ditches of simple electric stops.

The fruitful Yakima valley and other irrigated sections of Washington that get their life-saving waters from tributaries of the mighty Columbia, or directly from that great river, have heretofore raised products of the soil with an accompanying sacrifice of at least $2,000,000 worth of food-fish annually. This has been a tremendous sum to set against the value of the harvests of the fields, but while this wholesale destruction of salmon and trout seemed nothing short of criminal waste, there appeared no practicable way of stopping it.—St. Nicholas Magazine.

Sinister Misnomer

There is a certain little Russian restaurant in Paris, where there are so many Russian restaurants these days. It is altogether charming, the cooking is excellent and the wines and the music are praiseworthy. A violinist and several fellow conspirators perform like virtuosos. There is, in fact, but one discordant note, and that is in a placard tacked up near the orchestra, which reads: "Venez voir les celebres executeurs." (Come in and see the famous executioners.) "Executeurs" in a Russian restaurant! The chills go up one's spine.—From Le Figaro, Paris (Translated for the Kansas City Star).

When Truth Hurts

One of the annual crop of car owners that disdains to drive the same model car for two seasons, advertised his auto for sale in an outstate paper. Soon after the advertisement appeared, his phone was kept busy with such queries as "Do you think your car would hold out as far as Chicago?" "What do you think of its chances of getting as far as Columbus?" etc. In bewilderment, he looked up the advertisement and discovered that his own eulogy of the bargain had been faithfully copied, including the statement: "This one won't last long."—Indianapolis News.

TOURIST PARK NEW ARRANGEMENT

THE Brainerd Tourist Park, which was conducted on a free basis last year, citizens donating to the fund which made such generosity possible, has this season opened under a new arrangement, a moderate charge being substituted.

The Tourist Park has been taken over by the Park Board of the city, and has been ordered placed on a self-sustaining basis. No tourist can possibly object to paying the moderate charge made for services which range in order and read like that offered by a hotel.

Fifty cents per car gives each party all the camp privileges the first day. For the second and succeeding days, 25c per day is charged. Parties stopping for lunch only, 10c for three in a party, 20c for larger parties.

The Park Board aims to give service which will more than offset any charges made, furnishing gas and gas ranges for cooking, spring water, laundry facilities, shower baths, electric lights, hot and cold water, sanitary and modern toilets, caretaker in attendance, police protection, canopied lunch tables, etc., all in a beautiful park within four blocks of the heart of the city, on the banks of the Mississippi river.

Last season Brainerd was one of the few towns which gave all its wonderful privileges absolutely free and it certainly received a world of advertising from such efforts. The Brainerd Tourist Park is known wherever cars congregate.

This year, on adopting the moderate charge basis, Brainerd Tourist Park is only following in the footsteps of the majority of tourist parks of the nations and remains in the forefront, giving more for the money than a majority of the parks have to offer.

MUCH EXCITEMENT FOR DRY AGENTS

NO CALM OR PEACEFUL EXISTENCE FOR THEM, SAYS AGENT

Chicago, June 2.—The life of a prohibition agent is far from being a calm or peaceful existence, if the experience of Bryce Armstrong, head of Chicago's federal "sponge squad," is to be taken as a criterion.

Armstrong, in recent months, has run the gauntlet of harrowing experiences for, as the arch foe of Chicago's beer runners and booze peddlers, he has been the object of their persecution.

Recently, while Armstrong and members of his family slept, their apartment was bombed. The force of the explosion shattered windows in the neighborhood and hurled Armstrong from his bed. The next morning he named two of the city's king bootleggers as the parties responsible but was without evidence except the fact that they had threatened to "get him."

Before and after the bombing Armstrong has lived and worked with the knowledge that he was a much sought target for the gunmen's "gats."

Armstrong also has his troubles with politicians who are reputed to be in league with the beer runners. In stories of his experiences, and in testimony before the senate Daugherty committee in Washington, Armstrong has recounted numerous attempts to remove him from office. The offers have come, he says, in threats and bribes.

The threats have been intimations that the "booze interests" would "get" him and members of his family and the bombing episode, still fresh in his mind, convinces Armstrong that the booze runners meant what they said. Armstrong told on the witness stand that he has been offered good positions at high salaries if he would only relent from his war against the beer runners. He has also told of being offered huge sums of money to remain away from court when defendants he has secured evidence against were on trial.

Kansas City Welcomes Thousands of Shriners

(By United Press)

Kansas City, Mo., June 2.—Disciples of Kalif Alu, 350,000 strong, stormed Kansas City today for the opening of the International Shrine convention here tomorrow.

Kansas City was a vortex of color. The shopping district was a living arcade, tinted by the Shrine crimson and yellow, with flag and bunting embellishments.

Everywhere the fez and color predominated. Each embellishment was a shrine, exuding the odors and atmosphere of Arabia.

"Oases" were plentiful and were thronged by gorgeously costumed sons of the desert, who treked across America's Sahara to prepare for tomorrow's Shriner's Day parade, one of the most spectacular pageants in the annals of "Shrinedom."

Brilliant lights tonight will transform the city. Beacons—red, yellow and green—will gleam from the summits of Kansas City's loftiest buildings, apprising the countryside that tomorrow Kansas City will be "Shrine City," ruled by a Monarch of the Fez.

The hotels were bursts of color and light, and everywhere hung welcoming signs for the sons of the desert.

The city exchequer unlatched his purse-strings and doled out $300,000 to make the convention possible. All of it has been spent in decorating and preparing for the entertainment of the Shriners.

Sixty thousand seats have been provided for tomorrow's parade and those to follow. Five thousand automobiles, operating day and night and with precedence over all traffic, will transport the visitors about the city.

The entire downtown district will be closed to all except Shrine traffic. The city's police department, the American Legion and several thousand Boy Scouts will have charge of traffic.

Convention hall will be mobilization headquarters. There, mounted Arab guards, patrols, bands and other uniformed bodies, will form the procession that will mark beginning of Shriners' Day parade. From there, down through the "valley of buildings and signboards," the followers of Kalif Alu will march to Union Station Plaza. More than 100,000 Shriners will be massed there and the parade, described as the most "gorgeous and stupendous," will begin.

More than 1000 temples will participate, the uniformed bodies wending their way between walls of flags and floral decorations.

John Phillip Sousa's famous band, supplemented by two score of Shrine bands, will lead the parade.

Wednesday, the Shriners' night parade will be held, followed Thursday night by a civic pageant.

Continuous vaudeville, motion pictures, spectacles, dancing and other forms of amusement will be provided. The visitors will be taken to every point of interest in Kansas City and surrounding towns.

Clubs will be thrown open, all forms of sport will be available and a magnificent display of pyrotechnics will feature each night's entertainment. Wednesday afternoon, the Shriners' bands, under the baton of Sousa, will give a concert. Five thousand Shrine chanters will mingle their voices at convention hall on Thursday afternoon.

Kansas City will be ruled by the Shriner until midnight, Thursday.

Duke Says a Kind Word for Other Dukes

(By United Press)

London, May 31—Even a Duke will turn. There has been a good deal of criticism of dukes lately. Some persons have gone so far as to ask what good dukes do the world, anyway, and to inquire why a duke should have a fancy income and nothing to do—and all that sort of thing. Perhaps it's terrible "Bolshie" propaganda, but folks have actually been talking that way.

The Duke of Atholl heard about it, and proceeded to make a speech. He was opening an exhibition of mediaeval art at Glasgow, but he talked about modern criticism of the titled wealthy.

"I can't say anything about other dukes," he observed. "I am so busy myself that I do not bother about them. But I'll say this: If there is anybody who can make more use of my land than I do he is at perfect liberty to try."

The Duke's address is Blair Castle, Perthshire, and he owns 202,000 acres.

NO CALM OR PEACEFUL EXISTENCE FOR THEM, SAYS AGENT

Chicago, June 2.—The life of a prohibition agent is far from being a calm or peaceful existence, if the experience of Bryce Armstrong, head of Chicago's federal "sponge squad," is to be taken as a criterion.

Armstrong, in recent months, has run the gauntlet of harrowing experiences for, as the arch foe of Chicago's beer runners and booze peddlers, he has been the object of their persecution.

Recently, while Armstrong and members of his family slept, their apartment was bombed. The force of the explosion shattered windows in the neighborhood and hurled Armstrong from his bed. The next morning he named two of the city's king bootleggers as the parties responsible but was without evidence except the fact that they had threatened to "get him."

Before and after the bombing Armstrong has lived and worked with the knowledge that he was a much sought target for the gunmen's "gats."

Armstrong also has his troubles with politicians who are reputed to be in league with the beer runners. In stories of his experiences, and in testimony before the senate Daugherty committee in Washington, Armstrong has recounted numerous attempts to remove him from office. SIDNEY TO BUILD BIG ARCH BRIDGE

$25,000,000 Structure for Capital of South Wales.

New York.—Ever since the day, more than one hundred years ago, when the first convict ship dropped anchor in Sydney harbor, the greeting of the native Sydneyite to the stranger within his gates has been, "Have you seen our harbor?"

In six years this greeting will probably be changed to "have you seen our bridge"? for Sydney, capital of New South Wales, in the Commonwealth of Australia, will commence work within a few weeks on what will be the largest single arch bridge in the world. The Sydney Harbor bridge linking Dawes Point on the Sydney side to Miller's Point, directly opposite, has been talked of for more than thirty years. Now it is to be built.

The contract for the construction was signed five weeks ago, and recently G. C. Imbault, one of the consulting engineers of the firm of Dorman Long company of England, whose tender was accepted, passed through New York being enroute from Sydney to London to complete arrangements for the commencement of building operations.

The cost of erecting the bridge will be £4,217,721, or approximately $20,540,301. It will be 3,770 feet in length and will have a single arch of 1,650 feet span, the largest of any arch bridge in the world. Its nearest rival in this respect is the Hell Gate bridge, with an arch of 977.5 feet. Besides being the largest arch bridge in the world, the Sydney Harbor bridge will be the third largest bridge of any kind in the world. It will be surpassed only by the Quebec bridge over the St. Lawrence river, with a span of 1,800 feet, and the Firth of Forth bridge, with a span of 1,710 feet. The fourth largest span of any bridge is our own Williamsburg bridge, whose span is 1,600 feet, only 50 feet less than the Australian bridge.

Will Cost $25,000,000.

While the actual construction of the bridge will cost more than $20,000,000, to this must be added about 5,000,000 more for the property to be used in the approaches. More than 50,000 tons of steel will be used.

Following the policy that has always been the slogan of the Commonwealth, "Australia for the Australians," the bridge will be built by Australian workmen of material found or made in Australia.

The state parliament of New South Wales had authorized an expenditure of $30,802,750. The tender of Dorman Long & Co. was $10,262,449 less than this amount and $544,510 less than the estimate submitted by J. J. C. Bradfield, the government engineer.

The bridge will allow the largest steamers in the world to pass below, the floor being 170 feet above high-water mark, and will carry four railroad tracks as well as 80 feet of road and footways. The main span will be joined to two granite abutment towers rising to a height of 310 feet.

G. C. Imbault who, with Ralph Freeman, M. I. C. E., is the consulting engineer of the bridge, has built bridges in all parts of the world. Some of his works are the Victoria Falls bridge over the Zambesi river, in Africa; the bridge over the Blue Nile at Khartoum and the White Nile bridge at Giz Abu Goma. During the war he was in the service of the French government rebuilding bridges that had been destroyed by the Germans.

Speaking of the construction of the bridge, Mr. Imbault said that only the parts that cannot be manufactured in Australia would be imported from abroad.

"As much Australian steel as Australian manufacturers are prepared to produce and to roll into plates and shapes will be used in its fabrication. The bridge will be fabricated wholly at Milson's Point, Sydney, by Australian workmen; the piers and abutments will be constructed of Moruya granite, Nepean river sand and New South Wales cement, and the bridge will be constructed by Australian labor."

To Take Six Years to Complete.

Mr. Imbault said that the abutments would rest on the sandstone formation that is within a few feet of the surface along the foreshores of Sydney harbor, and that the engineers would not be bothered with any problems of sinking caissons into the water. He estimated that it would take six years to complete, and that during that time employment would be furnished to from 1,200 to 1,500 mechanics, engineers, steel workers and other artisans.

The completion of the bridge will bring to a successful conclusion an issue that has existed for more than a quarter of a century. Before the beginning of the Twentieth century Sydney had outstripped its housing facilities on the south side of the harbor, where the city proper existed. Thousands of residences had been built, even then, on North Shore, Milson's Point, Mosman's Bay and the coves and inlets that wind in all directions. The North Shore railroad line extended from Milson's Point through a rapidly growing residential area. The only communication with Sydney proper was by ferryboat.

Several styles of bridges were suggested. Commissions were appointed to investigate and determine the best kind. Finally, after years of work, J. J. C. Bradfield, chief engineer, submitted a design which met with general approval.

Decide on Arch Bridge.

When the bridge is completed the transcontinental express will start at Rockhampton, Queensland, on its run of 3,880 miles to Freemantle in Western Australia and will pass through Sydney, via the Sydney Harbor bridge, thus shortening the distance by several miles. The same cars and coaches will run through, steam and electric locomotives only being changed at various division points.

The traveling time between Sydney and the suburbs to the south as well as points on the suburban and Illawara line and the great resorts of Manly, Narrabean, the Spit and Mosman's Bay will be reduced in many instances by one-half on completion of the bridge. Railroad trains and street cars will run direct from the Central station to these points.

The style of bridge to be erected was for some time the subject of considerable controversy. Finally it simmered down to the choice of one of the three principal styles, suspension, cantilever and arch; the latter, it was concluded, would best harmonize with the natural beauty of the harbor.

In this connection it is noteworthy that when the Sydney Harbor bridge is completed three of the world's four largest bridges will be of different types. The Quebec bridge over the St. Lawrence river in Canada, the world's greatest bridge, is of the cantilever type. So is the Firth of Forth bridge in Scotland. The Sydney Harbor bridge, next in size, is an arch bridge, and Williamsburg bridge, spanning the East river from Manhattan to Williamsburg, is a suspension bridge.

Plan to Bridge Golden Gate.

Next in order of size come the other New York bridges, Brooklyn, Manhattan, Queensboro and Hell Gate, the two first named being suspension bridges, the third a cantilever and the last an arch bridge, at this time and until the completion of the Sydney Harbor bridge the largest of its kind in the world.

While the Sydney Harbor bridge is in process of erection work on three other large bridges in the United States will be going on. For more than one hundred years there has been talk of building a bridge over the Delaware river between Philadelphia, Pa., and Camden, N. J. It is being built now.

The accepted design for this bridge calls for an expenditure on the bridge itself of $13,355,000. The Philadelphia approach is to cost $3,580,000 in addition, and the Camden approach, including the land taken and the paving of the approach, is to be $2,640,000. The electrical equipment of the bridge is to cost $250,000 and the engineering expenses are to be $1,250,000. Real estate foreclosed in Philadelphia is valued at $4,500,000 and in Camden at $1,600,000. The distance between pierhead lines will be 1,690 feet and the span will be 1,750 feet.

Plans are being worked out in San Francisco for a bridge over the Golden Gate which will be considerably larger than the proposed suspension bridge across the Hudson river between New York and New Jersey. Its middle span of 4,000 feet will be 750 feet longer and its towers 150 feet higher than the Hudson river project. The estimated cost of the bridge is $17,250,000.

Detroit Planning Bridge

The Golden Gate bridge will be unique in construction. It will combine the features of the suspension and cantilever types. At the point selected for the bridge site the shores are 6,700 feet apart. Rock ledges fifty feet under water extend from each side, making the actual channel about 4,000 feet wide. The cost of a suspension bridge with cables 7,000 feet or more in length was prohibitive, nor was cantilever construction practicable.

With two side spans and its middle span of 4,000 feet the bridge will be 1.6 miles in length. The 747-foot steel towers will stand on piers 200 feet from base to top, making the towers about 950 feet above rock bottom. The height above high water mark will be 200 feet and the width will be 80 feet. There will be two trolley car lines, two automobile roadways in each direction and two seven-foot sidewalks.

Plans have been prepared by the City of Detroit for a bridge over the Detroit river. This will provide a great highway for railroad and vehicular traffic between the Michigan city and Canada. The plans of Charles E. Fowler, chief engineer, and Dr. D. B. Steinman, his chief assistant, call for a center span of 1,803 feet from center to center of towers. The shore spans will be 925 feet in length from the center of the tower to the anchorage. The floor of the bridge between the towers will be suspended from eight cables and between the towers and anchorages it will be carried upon a series of steel piers.

The traffic over the bridge will be carried on two decks. Upon the highway deck will be two trolley tracks, two twenty-eight-foot roadways and two seven-foot sidewalks. On the lower deck will be four railroad tracks.

MAGNETIC STORM DISRUPTS CABLE

Scientist Tells How Sun Spots Burn Instruments.

Williams Bay, Wis.—Sun spots are interfering with the news, according to the latest conjecture of scientists. Edwin B. Frost, director of Yerkes observatory here, advanced this theory following research which showed that the magnetic storms which disturb cable service, and sometimes telephone lines, often burning out delicate electrical instruments of the cable and telephone companies, are associated with the appearance of some particularly large or especially active sun spot crossing near the sun's central meridian.

"Sun spots have a relation," Professor Frost said, "which is still very imperfectly understood, with the electric currents in the earth and the changes of the earth's magnetism in a large magnetic storm, such as not infrequently occurs at solar maxima.

Sun of Supreme Importance.

"To the inhabitants of the earth the sun is the object of supreme importance in nature. It gives us light, color, heat, food, fuel and power, whether from the steam engine, waterfall or windmill. Therefore every discovery about the sun is of great interest to the human race, whether or not the discovery seems to be of immediate application.

"Sun spots may be likened to cyclones. It is a law of the earth's atmosphere that cyclones in the northern hemisphere must whirl from right to left, contrary to the hands of a clock; in the southern hemisphere they whirl in the other direction. It has been established that the whirls of hot gases in the sun's atmosphere are electrified or ionized, and, therefore, sun spots become to a certain extent electromagnets. It has been newly discovered that when one solar cycle of about eleven years comes to an end at minimum of solar activity, and a new cycle of activity is begun, there is a reversal of the polarity of the sun spots in the two hemispheres. Those which would previously have corresponded to a north pole now correspond to a south pole.

Western Spot Always Plus.

"Spots generally appear in connected groups, the front or western spot during one cycle almost always being of plus sign, while spots following behind it, often at a distance of one hundred thousand miles, would be of negative sign. In the southern hemisphere the conditions would be the opposite. In the new cycle just beginning, the conditions are reversed as to the electromagnetic sign. As spots become more evident and large in the next few years, they will tend to occur nearer the sun's equator.

"The new discovery shows that the entire cycle of solar activity must be regarded as twice as long as has hitherto been thought, covering two maxima and two minima of sun spot activity, or about twenty-two years."

Declares Long Tongues Cause People to Lisp

Found—a sure cure for lisping!

This is stated on the authority of Professor Franke, well-known German surgeon, who announces his discovery in the German Medical Weekly a Berlin.

Professor Franke found that persons lisp because their tongue is too long. Nothing simpler, therefore, than to cut off a piece and remedy this defect that kills through ridicule.

He has cured several patients on that principle by removing about half an inch of their tongue and sewing it up again, in a fashion that neither the shape nor the appearance of the tongue was changed.

The tongues healed within two weeks and the patients spoke as if they had never lisped.

The operation, besides, is perfectly painless and without danger.

324 YEARS IN SENTENCES IN CHICAGO FOR SELLING BOOZE

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 2.—If one man were required to serve the aggregate sentences handed out to booze law violators in Chicago during the last twelve months, he would have permanent board and lodging behind the bars for 324 years, according to Edwin A. Olson, United States district attorney for Chicago.

The total booze law convictions in the twelve months, according to Olson's statement, is 1,504, which gives him the basis for another statement that "prohibition enforcement is doing more than aggravating Chicago's booze kings—it is putting them out of business.'

The number of convictions in twelve months is but one record that has been established by the prohibition enforcement department—another is the record established in closing premises that housed liquor law violators.

Records on the property injunctions issued show a total of 636 were issued from May 1, 1923, to May 1924, and that the property closed for one year by the court action has an aggregate value of $20,000,000. The list includes 16 breweries in 19 northern Illinois counties and the million dollar De Jonghe hotel, a popular hostelry in the heart of Chicago's loop district.

Olson hails the property injunction as his most effective weapon against the booze kings. It gives him a means of prosecution much more effective than criminal action and at the same time serves to keep property owners from accepting questionable tenants.

"They are not going to run the risk of having their property closed for an entire year for the sake of a few months rent paid by a booze runner or a basement distiller," Olson said. He added:

"In the last few months we have had fewer reports of booze joints than at any time since prohibition and I am confident that the next few months will see a still greater decline in complaints.'

Therefore every discovery about the sun is of great interest to the human race, whether or not the discovery seems to be of immediate application.

"Sun spots may be likened to cyclones. It is a law of the earth's atmosphere that cyclones in the northern hemisphere must whirl from right to left, contrary to the hands of a clock; in the southern hemisphere they whirl in the other direction. It has been established that the whirls of hot gases in the sun's atmosphere are electrified or ionized, and, therefore, sun spots become to a certain extent electromagnets. It has been newly discovered that when one solar cycle of about eleven years comes to an end at minimum of solar activity, and a new cycle of activity is begun, there is a reversal of the polarity of the sun spots in the two hemispheres. Those which would previously have corresponded to a north pole now correspond to a south pole.

Western Spot Always Plus.

"Spots generally appear in connected groups, the front or western spot during one cycle almost always being of plus sign, while spots following behind it, often at a distance of one hundred thousand miles, would be of negative sign. In the southern hemisphere the conditions would be the opposite. In the new cycle just beginning, the conditions are reversed as to the electromagnetic sign. As spots become more evident and large in the next few years, they will tend to occur nearer the sun's equator.

"The new discovery shows that the entire cycle of solar activity must be regarded as twice as long as has hitherto been thought, covering two maxima and two minima of sun spot activity, or about twenty-two years."

Declares Long Tongues Cause People to Lisp

Found—a sure cure for lisping!

This is stated on the authority of Professor Franke, well-known German surgeon, who announces his discovery in the German Medical Weekly a Berlin.

Professor Franke found that persons lisp because their tongue is too long. Nothing simpler, therefore, that to cut off a piece and remedy this defect that kills through ridicule.

He has cured several patients on that principle by removing about half an inch of their tongue and sewing it up again, in a fashion that neither the shape nor the appearance of the tongue was changed.

The tongues healed within two weeks and the patients spoke as if they had never lisped.

The operation, besides, is perfectly painless and without danger.

324 YEARS IN SENTENCES IN CHICAGO FOR SELLING BOOZE

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 2.—If one man were required to serve the aggregate sentences handed out to booze law violators in Chicago during the last twelve months, he would have permanent board and lodging behind the bars for 324 years, according to Edwin A. Olson, United States district attorney for Chicago.

The total booze law convictions in the twelve months, according to Olson's statement, is 1,504, which gives him the basis for another statement that "prohibition enforcement is doing more than aggravating Chicago's booze kings—it is putting them out of business.'

The number of convictions in twelve months is but one record that has been established by the prohibition enforcement department—another is the record established in closing premises that housed liquor law violators.

Records on the property injunctions issued show a total of 636 were issued from May 1, 1923, to May 1924, and that the property closed for one year by the court action has an aggregate value of $20,000,000. The list includes 16 breweries in 19 northern Illinois counties and the million dollar De Jonghe hotel, a popular hostelry in the heart of Chicago's loop district.

Olson hails the property injunction as his most effective weapon against the booze kings. It gives him a means of prosecution much more effective than criminal action and at the same time serves to keep property owners from accepting questionable tenants.

"They are not going to run the risk of having their property closed for an entire year for the sake of a few months rent paid by a booze runner or a basement distiller," Olson said. He added:

"In the last few months we have had fewer reports of booze joints than at any time since prohibition and I am confident that the next few months will see a still greater decline in complaints.'

RURAL SCHOOLS GRADUATE CLASSES

Exercises Held Wednesday Evening by School Districts No's 53 and 30

PICNIC SUPPER SERVED

Prof. J. A. Wilson Presented the Diplomas to the Graduates

Eighth grade graduation exercises of rural school districts No. 53 and No. 30 were held on last Wednesday evening at the school house in the former district, commonly known as the Hughey school.

At half past seven the house was packed to its limit, with a large overflow on the lawn, showing the interest taken by the people in the two districts affected.

The program started with a picnic supper, served by the ladies of the two districts, the delicious food being supplied in a seemingly unlimited quantity and variety, finishing with plenty of ice cream for all. Quite a number from Brainerd, led by John Bye, attended the supper and the program, and brought with them appetites that would do justice to any farmer.

After supper, the gathering was directed to the lawn, where an athletic program was staged. There were racing and high jumping events which brought out the ability of many athletes, among the girls as well as the boys. Two girls each about ten years old afforded much amusement in a speedy three-legged race, crossing the lawn several times without a break or a misstep, at a speed beyond that of many others not so handicapped.

In the high jump a young lady one of the graduates, repeatedly vaulted over a bar held four feet from the ground, clearing it by from twelve to fifteen inches each time.

This same young lady in the literary program which followed the athletic contest, gang a very sweet solo playing the violin accompaniment herself.

The program, consisted of songs, declamations and dialogs, was directed by one of the teachers, Miss Ruth Dykeman, one of the very conscientious teachers in the county.

An amusing number was a Swedish dialect piece very well rendered by a young lady with no Scandinavian ancestry.

After the program a class of six pupils, four from the Hughey school and two from No. 30, known as the Potter school, five girls and one boy, were honored with diplomas, all having completed the eighth grade course of study as prescribed by the state high school board.

Prof. J. A. Wilson, representing Superintendent Irma C. Hartley, who was unable to attend, presented the diplomas. Mr. Wilson addressed the class and the audience on the chief factors which go to make up a good school. These factors, briefly are, a good teacher, well fed and clothed pupils, good homes, and most necessary of all, kind intelligent parents. All of these, the speaker affirmed were to be found in the school districts represented in the graduation exercises.

The diplomas given entitle the holders to enter any high school in the state without being required to pay tuition. The graduates all expect to enter the Brainerd high school next fall.

A newly invented lock for safes has just been exhibited at Birmingham, England, the peculiarity of which is that, instead of opening to a numerical combination, it does so to a musical tone. Safeblowers of the future, instead of carrying a kit of jimmies and "nitro," will have to have a set of tuning forks.—Musical America.

New York, June 2.—In making her first invasion of Europe in quest of the world's championship, Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old American champion, will be handicapped by the schedule which will make her play her first game in England.

Miss Wills is just away from the clay courts of her home club in Berkeley, where she has been playing a fast game against male opponents.

In England she will have to play upon strange turf with an English ball. That there is a great difference between playing with an English ball on the Wimbledon turf and in playing with an Amercan ball on Forest Hills sod was strikingly apparent last summer when the British woman's team came over here and were disastrously beaten by the American feminine stars.

No one would deny after those Wightman Cup matches at Forest Hills that the British ladies did not play their best game and their excuse that they could get the feel of the American courts and get the swing of the American ball was accepted as everything but an alibi. The English ladies were too gracious to alibi themselves and all the internationalists who saw the matches told what the trouble was before the guests felt it politic to discuss conditions which brought about their downfall.

Even though she will have a month's time in which to accimate herself to British living, the popular young California champion will find when she takes the court for actual competition that she may have to make her game as she goes along.

Such a competent critic as young Vinnie Richards believes that the use of the English ball is going to be the biggest handicap that Miss Wills will be asked to carry in her Wightman Cup matches and in the British championships at Wimbledon.

"The English ball," he says, "is smaller and much softer than our ball. The turf over there is also much softer and it is hard to get the feel of the ball.

"When I played my first match in England," he continued, "I was totally at sea. I was playing against Washer, the Belgian star, and it was fortunate that he was having the same difficulty. I kept trying my customary pace and found that I couldn't get any control and I was being beaten badly because it was forcing the attack and he was letting me lose on my errors.

"Finally I decided that I must let him carry the game and see how he could do. I started chopping them back at him and he started driving them all over the place, and I won on his errors."

CARPENTIER SPRAINED HIS ANKLE IN FIGHT

Michigan City, Ind., June 2.—In the Saturday fight between Gibbons and Carpentier, the gate receipts were reported at $240,000, and of this amount Carpentier got $70,000 and Gibbons received $61,000.

Gibbons was awarded the decision, unofficially, on points. In the ninth round the Frenchman slipped and complained his ankle was hurt. The crowd had no pity on Carpentier and gave him a sarcastic roast.

Today it develops that Carpentier's talk of injury was no alibi. His ankle has swollen to three times its size, and it may be a week before he can stand on his feet. Carpentier has taken to his bed.

Gibbons had the best of the boxing bout in nine of the ten rounds. When Carpentier claimed his ankle injury, he staggered helplessly about the ring, and Gibbons, if he had led, could have scored a knockout. In fact, Gibbons had five chances to land knockouts, but did not take advantage of them.

Eminent sports writers claim the showing made by Gibbons and Carpentier is that neither would stand much chance if they faced Dempsey in the squared circle.

Mike McNally of Yanks To Be Reinstated Today

EPINARD, BEATEN ON FRENCH TRACKS, WILL TRY LUCK IN BRITAIN

Paris, June 2.—Epinard, not yet in his old form, as shown by his defeat by Premontre at Long Champs yesterday, will be sent to England today for his seasoning on the English turf. Pierre Wertheimer, unchagrined by his horse's showing here, has merely decided to ship him to New Market immediately instead of waiting until June 10 as he originally intended.

"We have no place at Maisons Laffitte to give the horse the real hard work he needs," said Wertheimer today. "He is always slow in getting into form and he is not yet ready. It was the same story last year, when the big fellow never rounded into top form until the end of June. I am not worrying, and I am sure we will show the critics a real race horse again before the season has advanced another two weeks."

Asked whether the plans for Epinard's trip to America had been changed, M. Wertheimer said:

"It will be for the Americans to say after our English campaign whether they still want Epinard or not."

Distilled Wisdom in Aged Irish Proverbs

"The proverbs of a nation are the distilled wit of generations of its people, and the true wit of the race is oftentimes in proportion to the truth and beauty of its proverbs," says Seumas MacManus, who points out, according to the Montreal Herald, that the sayings of the Irish are singularly rich in poetry, philosophy, satire and wisdom.

"The silent mouth is melodious," is an Irish proverb of poetic beauty.

"Our eyes should be blind in the abode of another," and "if the best man's thoughts were written on his forehead, he would wear his hat down over his eyes," inculcate charity in judging others.

"God never shuts one door but He opens two," and "Hope is the physician of every misery," express the optimism of the race.

"Fierceness is often hidden under beauty." "There is often anger in a laugh," and "A good dress often hides a deceiver," are other ways of expressing the idea that appearances are sometimes deceiving.

"A man with one eye is a king among blind men." "Without treasure, without friends," and "A heavy purse makes a light heart," show the advantages of possession.

"Look before you leap," and "Don't take the thatch off your own house to buy slates for another man's," are good advice to the improvident.

"Enough is as good as a feast," preaches a sermon on contentment.

Many Countries Supply England With Oranges

We seldom stop to think in England what a wonderful and delicious fruit the orange is. Its "family tree" includes the lemon, the citrus, and the lime, and the first oranges seem to have come from India.

They came to this cold country by way of south Italy, Spain and Portugal, and until recent times, when millions of boxes reach us from California and Queensland, our main supply came from the south of Europe.

The sight of a Queensland or California orange ranch is one to remember, for the orange tree bears blossom and fruit simultaneously. In Europe, where orange growing is an ancient industry, trees are to be seen whose age is reckoned by centuries. The up-to-date colonial orange grower clears his old trees out as scon as they begin to fail and puts young trees in their place.

Many thousands of boxes of oranges arrive at the London docks, not only from the countries already mentioned, but from the Azores, the West Indies, Tangier, Malta, Brazil and many other tropical and subtropical lands, says London Tit-Bits. There are nearly a hundred different varieties of orange, of which the navel orange is the pick. It is one of the triumphs of orange growers that they have evolved a fruit which is seedless.

Lucky

A dentist was called on in a hurry by Jenkinson, who was suffering violently from toothache. The dentist examined the tooth, saw it was badly gone, and said it must come out. So he gave a tremendous yank with his big silver forceps, and the ... seemed successful; but on closer inspection it was found that a small piece of tooth remained in the swollen and sensitive gum. The dentist went jabbing about for this piece a good while. However, he hadn't much luck.

"Hang it all," he said finally, as he jabbed at the gum in a rather impatient, cross way—"hang it all, I don't seem to feel it."

"No?" said poor Jenkinson, all white and trembling. "You're in luck."

"Poor Man's" Gout

Chronic gout is a lingering malady characterized by deposits of urate of sodium on the joint cartilages at the ends of the bones, especially in the fingers, and often in the ears. It is also marked by an excess of oxalic acid salts in the blood. There is severe pain in one or more of the joints at the time the deposits are forming, and the pain may recur from time to time in the same or in other joints. Frequently the eyes suffer and in some cases the disease attacks the internal organs. Chronic gout is sometimes called "poor man's" gout. Its treatment, which is usually dietetic, should be begun as soon as the trouble is discovered.

Well, What Is It?

Henry Holt knew many of the great figures of half a century ago, and his reminiscences are full of anecdotes of the past and present. "One night at a dinner," he records in his "Garrulities of an Octogenarian Editor," "we heard William Dean Howells declare to St. Gaudens that there is no such thing as genius; whereupon St. Gaudens asked, "What do you call it when you see it?"

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advt.

SUFFERED 10 YEARS SAYS MRS. WOLFRUM

St. Paul Lady Spent A Fortune Hunting For Relief—Then Turned To Tanlac.

"For ten years," states Mrs. Margaret Wolfrum, esteemed resident of 1464 Sherburne Ave., St. Paul, Minn. "I suffered severely from stomach trouble and when I began taking Tanlac, I was so weak and exhausted that my condition bordered on desperation.

"I never had an appetite, could scarcely digest anything and the gases and dizzy spells were almost unbearable. I also had long spells of headaches which kept me awake whole nights and simply wrecked my nerves.

"Tanlac has done what other treatments on which I spent large sums of money failed to do—brought me complete relief. Even those awful headaches have left me, and I am now enjoying the best of health and strength. I have a grand appetite, I sleep soundly and get up mornings refreshed and happy. My gratitude to Tanlac is beyond expression."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Their Glory Departed

Years ago the totem pole represented a highly developed and perfect art of the Alaskan Indians. Now they are frequently cut up for sidewalk material or used as firewood.

Distilled Wisdom in Aged Irish Proverbs

"The proverbs of a nation are the distilled wit of generations of its people, and the true wit of the race is oftentimes in proportion to the truth and beauty of its proverbs," says Seumas MacManus, who points out, according to the Montreal Herald, that the sayings of the Irish are singularly rich in poetry, philosophy, satire and wisdom.

"The silent mouth is melodious," is an Irish proverb of poetic beauty.

"Our eyes should be blind in the abode of another," and "if the best man's thoughts were written on his forehead, he would wear his hat down over his eyes," inculcate charity in judging others.

"God never shuts one door but He opens two," and "Hope is the physician of every misery," express the optimism of the race.

"Fierceness is often hidden under beauty." "There is often anger in a laugh," and "A good dress often hides a deceiver," are other ways of expressing the idea that appearances are sometimes deceiving.

"A man with one eye is a king among blind men." "Without treasure, without friends," and "A heavy purse makes a light heart," show the advantages of possession.

"Look before you leap," and "Don't take the thatch off your own house to buy slates for another man's," are good advice to the improvident.

"Enough is as good as a feast," preaches a sermon on contentment.

Many Countries Supply England With Oranges

We seldom stop to think in England what a wonderful and delicious fruit the orange is. Its "family tree" includes the lemon, the citrus, and the lime, and the first oranges seem to have come from India.

They came to this cold country by way of south Italy, Spain and Portugal, and until recent times, when millions of boxes reach us from California and Queensland, our main supply came from the south of Europe.

The sight of a Queensland or California orange ranch is one to remember, for the orange tree bears blossom and fruit simultaneously. In Europe, where orange growing is an ancient industry, trees are to be seen whose age is reckoned by centuries. The up-to-date colonial orange grower clears his old trees out as scon as they begin to fail and puts young trees in their place.

Many thousands of boxes of oranges arrive at the London docks, not only from the countries already mentioned, but from the Azores, the West Indies, Tangier, Malta, Brazil and many other tropical and subtropical lands, says London Tit-Bits. There are nearly a hundred different varieties of orange, of which the navel orange is the pick. It is one of the triumphs of orange growers that they have evolved a fruit which is seedless.

Lucky

A dentist was called on in a hurry by Jenkinson, who was suffering violently from toothache. The dentist examined the tooth, saw it was badly gone, and said it must come out. So he gave a tremendous yank with his big silver forceps, and the [illegible] seemed successful; but on closer inspection it was found that a small piece of tooth remained in the swollen and sensitive gum. The dentist went jabbing about for this piece a good while. However, he hadn't much luck.

"Haag it all," he said finally, as he jabbed at the gum in a rather impatient, cross way—"hang it all, I don't seem to feel it."

"No?" said poor Jenkinson, all white and trembling. "You're in luck."

"Poor Man's" Gout

Chronic gout is a lingering malady characterized by deposits of urate of sodium on the joint cartilages at the ends of the bones, especially in the fingers, and often in the ears. It is also marked by an excess of oxalic acid salts in the blood. There is severe pain in one or more of the joints at the time the deposits are forming, and the pain may recur from time to time in the same or in other joints. Frequently the eyes suffer and in some cases the disease attacks the internal organs. Chronic gout is sometimes called "poor man's" gout. Its treatment, which is usually dietetic, should be begun as soon as the trouble is discovered.

Wanted to Get Even

A southern correspondent writes of the pious petition of an old colored preacher in a Georgia settlement: "Lawd," he prayed, "we wants a blessin' for every one 'cept one, en dat is de yaller hound, Sam Johnson, what boarded de railroad train en runned off wid de whole collection what wuz took up ter pay our salary wid. Lawd, please make de train jump de track—don't hurt de yuther passengers, but take one leg off fum dat wicked nigger."—Boston Transcript.

Well, What Is It?

Henry Holt knew many of the great figures of half a century ago, and his reminiscences are full of anecdotes of the past and present. "One night at a dinner," he records in his "Garrulities of an Octogenarian Editor," "we heard William Dean Howells declare to St. Gaudens that there is no such thing as genius; whereupon St. Gaudens asked, "What do you call it when you see it?"

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advt.

SUFFERED 10 YEARS SAYS MRS. WOLFRUM

St. Paul Lady Spent A Fortune Hunting For Relief—Then Turned To Tanlac.

"For ten years," states Mrs. Margaret Wolfrum, esteemed resident of 1464 Sherburne Ave., St. Paul, Minn. "I suffered severely from stomach trouble and when I began taking Tanlac, I was so weak and exhausted that my condition bordered on desperation.

"I never had an appetite, could scarcely digest anything and the gases and dizzy spells were almost unbearable. I also had long spells of headaches which kept me awake whole nights and simply wrecked my nerves.

"Tanlac has done what other treatments on which I spent large sums of money failed to do—brought me complete relief. Even those awful headaches have left me, and I am now enjoying the best of health and strength. I have a grand appetite, I sleep soundly and get up mornings refreshed and happy. My gratitude to Tanlac is beyond expression."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.
